

Redmond Rod & Gun Club Rules

The Club rules are meant to ensure the safety of all users of our facilities. It is expected that all members and visitors will conduct themselves in a responsible manner. All club members are expected to be familiar with these rules, their firearms and the basic rules of firearm safety. Any violation of these rules will result in a written notice from the Board of Directors. Subsequent or repeated violations will result in suspension or revocation of membership at the discretion of the Board. These Rules are provided in addition to the current version of the Redmond Rod & Gun Club Bylaws. If questions should arise, the Bylaws is the prevailing document.

Control

The ranges are under the control of designated Range Safety Officers (RSO). RSOs are provided to maintain safety and control of the ranges at all times, and to enforce the rules. In the event of an emergency, they are trained to respond with appropriate action. Membership and use of club facilities implies that users have read these rules and agree to follow the direction of the designated Range Safety Officers. These are volunteers, they DO NOT write club policy. If you have questions or concerns about these rules, please contact the Board of Directors.

Operation

Use of club facilities is available to members and their guests subject to payment of required use fees. Non-members will be allowed use of club facilities during normal hours of operation. Fees for members and non-members are set by the Board of Directors and are subject to change. Operating hours for each discipline is set by the Board of Directors. Hours and days of operation are posted in each discipline area and on our website, www.rrandgc.com. Use of club facilities is available by reservation, and occasionally closes the club to the general membership. Use of club facilities without the presence of a Board member, qualified person designated by the Board, or a Range Safety Officer is not permitted and will be considered Criminal Trespass and will be prosecuted.

Training

Firearms and Range Safety Officer training is available. Any member interested in either of these programs is encouraged to contact the Board of Directors. The Board meets on the first Monday of each month at 6:00 p.m except when the first Monday is a holiday. Contact information and Club calendar is available on our website at www.rrandgc.com. The minimum age for Range Safety Officers is 21.

Qualified instructors are welcome to use our facilities for various firearms safety and qualification instruction. Instructors must be approved by the Board of Directors and must be a member of the Club. Instructors must provide an insurance document which lists Redmond Rod and Gun Club as an additional insured in the amount of two million dollars. Instructors will be responsible for collection of Club daily range fees for every student (member or non-member as appropriate) and will submit in a timely manner to the appropriate Discipline Director. Use of training ranges is on a first come, first served basis and will be scheduled with the appropriate
